Oil companies will share cleanup costs

Three oil companies operating in the Elk Point area, Amoco Canada, Norcen Energy Resources and Pan Canadian Petroleum, have agreed to split the costs of the recent cleanup in Elk Point's sewage lagoon with the Town. The April 27 discovery of a diesel-like substance in the lagoon had led to a very prompt cleanup, and thus prevented any escape of pollutants into the river. However, the cost was close to the $10,000 mark. No source of the substance could be determined.

The next move is to prevent future occurrences of this kind. The oil companies and Mayor Ed Buck met June 28, and agreed that it will be necessary to inspect the existing premises of all businesses which could be potential sources of such pollutants, as well as to come up with a series of guidelines. The oil companies have agreed to cooperate with putting the plan into effect. Public Works Superintendent Ron Fraess is currently formulating a report on the matter, and after this has been presented to the Town, the Town and the oil companies plan to meet with the sump pit users.

Water line replacement got underway last week, but

Council agreed to defer the construction of a storm drain on 50th Avenue to the 1995 budget. The immediate problem, that of recent heavy rains forming a small lake at the intersection of 50th Avenue and 51st Street, was alleviated in a large part by the Public Works crew, who dredged out the ditch heading west from that intersection, the day after Council met.

Untidy premises are to be the subject of a Town crackdown. Notices of compliance are being sent out to the owners of such property, which are in violation of the Unsightly Premises Bylaw and the Streets Bylaw.

Barking dogs again made their presence known, and Mayor Buck is urging pet owners to "Be considerate of your dogs and your neighbors."

The Town Office will be getting a new look in the future. Council accepted an estimate by RJS Construction, Kitscoty, for the construction of a peaked roof over the existing structure, with colored metal roofing. The color will be determined when samples of the product arrive. The new roof will eliminate problems caused by an aging flat roof.

WATER LINE REPLACEMENT UNDERWAY - Elk Point's major water main replacement program, funded with assistance from the Canada-Alberta Infrastructure Program, is well underway on 51 through 54 Avenues. The new mains and refurbished sewer pipes will be topped off with smooth new pavement in the near future.

Elk Point approved for infrastructure funding

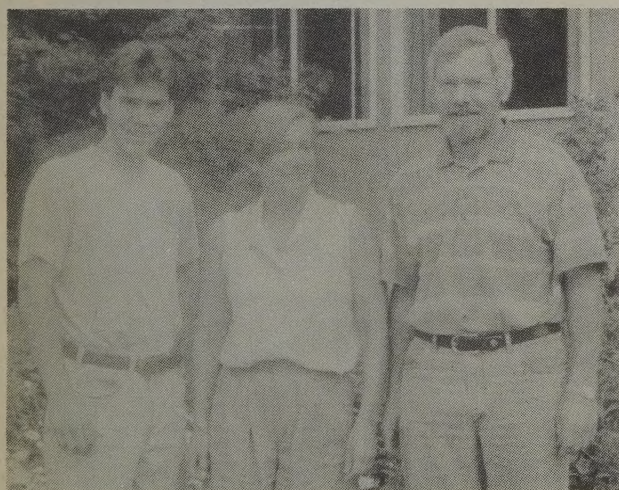

The Town of Elk Point has been approved for $178,582 in funding under the Canada / Alberta Infrastructure Works Agreement which is currently injecting $79.1 million into the Alberta economy and creating close to 1300 jobs across the province. Elk Point, St. Paul and the County of St. Paul are among 130 municipalities to receive funding under the agreement.

Elk Point will be using the funds for the upgrading of water lines on 51 through 54 Avenues, thus eliminating a longstanding problem with water main breaks due to aging pipes.

The total cost of the project, which will also include much needed repaving of the four avenues between Highway 41 and 50 Street, is $345,600.

AWARD WINNING FARM FAMILY - Dirk and Doris Ludlage, shown with son Christoph, are the 1994 Farm Family Award winners for the County of St. Paul.

Farm family to be honored

A huge boulder marks the entrance to the tree-lined driveway leading to the farmyard. The family which has worked together to achieve the thriving agribusiness within those gates is as solid as the rock itself.

Meet Theodore and Doris Ludlage and family, winners of the County of St. Paul's 1994 Farm Family Award.

The Ludlages farm approximately two miles southeast of Elk Point, combining a 140 sow farrow-to-finish hog operation with 5500 broiler / breeder chickens and 800 acres of crop to keep both parents and son Christoph busy year round. Daughter Katharina recently received her Bachelor of Commerce degree from the Business faculty of the University of Alberta and is now in Munich, Germany on a work experience placement, and is "enjoying every minute," according to her mother. The Ludlages' younger daughter, Elisabeth, has just completed her first year of pre-veterinary training at the U. of A. Christoph returned to the farm two years ago, after three years of studying civil engineering.

The family came to the Elk

Point area from Germany in 1976. They had farmed in Germany prior to that time, and Theodore, more commonly known as Dirk, had also studied to be a machinist. Farms in Germany are much smaller than their Canadian counterparts, with about a 100-acre average size, and visitors from their homeland are much impressed with the vast size of farms here.

The Ludlages are strong advocates of zero tillage, and are now in their third crop year with that method. "It's working out very good," Dirk

Stoney Lake Stampede

The cowboys rode high... and the weather cooperated

It's almost as if the sun wanted to catch the rodeo action too.

After a stormy morning Saturday, the skies cleared and the golden rays poured down on the 32nd annual Stoney Lake Stampede just as announcer Dave Hutton was testing his sound system.

And it stayed clear and warm all weekend for the outdoor event, which featured some nail-biting rodeo action and great finishes.

The event was the 32nd of its kind, and held up the tradition in fine form, with strong attendance and a variety of activities all weekend long.

Included in the festivities were a beer garden, evening social, petting zoo, and mechanical calf roping device.

But it was the high-flying rodeo that took center stage. The following are the top contenders in each of the main events:

Ladies' Barrel Racing. Sherry Hehr (first, 15.255, $500); Jackie Scherger (second, 15.267, $379.52); Rhonda Wolf (third, 15.390, $273.25).

Team Roping. Jason Fletcher and Stace Swan (first, 5.7, $266.77); Roger and Kurt Fletcher (second, 6.7, $202.10); Roger McKinney and Paul Ebbs (third, 9.7, $145.51).

Story and photos
by Rob Desjardins

Jr. Barrel Racing. Erica Neilsen (first, 15.5, $78.96); Donna Walker and Karen Davis (second/third split, 15.6, $49.34).

Jr. Bull Riding. Brian Cumming (first, 77, $86.48); Malcolm Anderson (second, 72, $64.86); Travis Reay (third, 71, $43.24).

Novice Horse Riding. Brad Lueders (first, 65, $82.72); C.J. Best (second, 62, $62.04); Dale Connor (third, 59, $41.36).

Saddle Bronc. Gary Seutter (first, 73, $250); Gerry Walker (second, 69, $187.53); Orvin Abbott and David McDonald (third/fourth split, 68, $93.76).

Bareback. Arthur Peterson (first, 69, $225.60); Matthew

Campbell and Stacey Knoll (second/third split, 65, $141).

Bull Riding. Derek Hehr (first, 76, $278.24).

Calf Roping. Bruce Christie (first, 10.3, $338.12); Lance Tulloch (second, 11.7, $256.15); David Harrison (third, 12.1, $184.42).

Steer Wrestling. Reg Pomerantz (first, 5.3, $435.83); Steven Gilbert (second, 6.8, $330.17); Brent Coates (third, 8.4, $237.72).

Note: The list of sponsors for these events was unavailable for publication this week. The Review will present a full recap those sponsors in next week's edition.

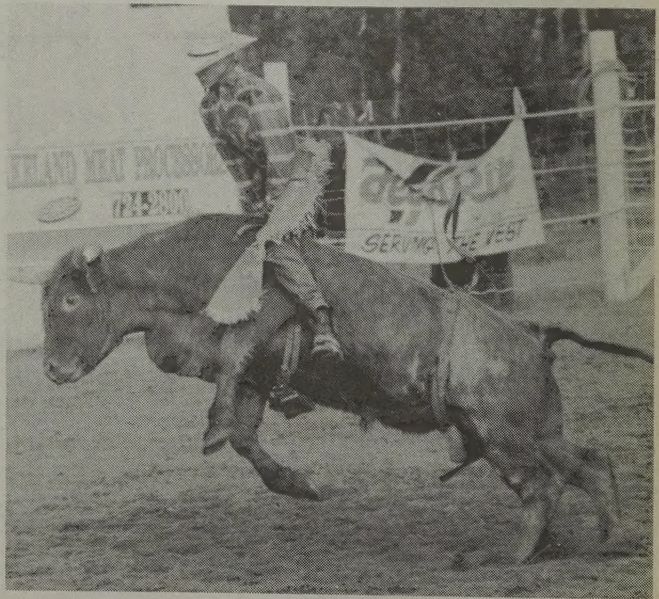

A bull's eye!

Fast and furious calf roping.

Ridin' high, ridin' bareback!

This ain't no mechanical bull!

Danyluk, Pinder make NE team

While other teens are enjoying a lazy summer break, Donna Pinder and Robyn Danyluk are heading off for a month of intensive basketball training and competition. The two have been chosen to be part of the North East Midget Girls Basketball Team, which draws players from across northeast Alberta.

The team left Friday for Fort McMurray for a 7-day training camp which the girls' coach at F. G. Miller High School, Ray Danyluk, says is "basically 9 to 5 daily." Then they are off to Regina for a western Canadian tournament. Their schedule continues with another training camp at Bonnyville, games in Edmonton and the Provincial Tournament in Airdrie, then back to Edmonton for another week's camp. They will have only four free days in the month of activity. Then it's back home to - what else? - u think about next year's basketball season.

Wrong cowboy

We had the right horse, but the wrong cowboy taking home the trophy from Wgitney Lake Rodeo last weekend.

The highest mark in the Bareback Brone Riding was indeed scored on Hot Chocolate, but the winner was Matthew Campbell, who marked a 76, moving Arthur Peterson down into second spot.

said, adding that he doubts if they will ever go back to the old system. Their thriving fields of barley, wheat and canola have all been seeded in the zero-till method, after first spraying with Roundup to combat such weeds as hawk's beard. "We find we're using less chemical overall," added Christoph. "We have made some test plots to try different things - we're always trying something new."

Doris Ludlage has been trying something new herself in the past year. After years spent "living at the arena" as her daughters took part in figure skating, she now has more time to work alongside her husband and son, and to pursue her hobby of gardening, which is evident from the glorious banks of flowers which provide a background for a handcrafted fieldstone patio overlooking the rolling fields beyond.

Not that the family has a lot of time to sit and smell the flowers. Since the farm was first established, "it has always been just family," and every member has had their duties to perform, even when they were busy with school and skating. "When we came back from the arena, everyone did their share," Doris said. Once, she recalled, an emergency in the barn called her and Elisabeth back as they were on their way to an event. "We had to turn around and change from ballet slippers to rubber boots. Elisabeth assured me she didn't mind, that the farm came first."

In addition to their years with the figure skating club, the family belongs to the Agricultural Society and the Crop Aces Zero Tillage Club. "With this kind of operation, there is not much time for heavy community involvement," Dirk said.

The Ludlages are a strong and unified family who have built a thriving enterprise for themselves. Along the way, their children were taught about responsibility, setting priorities, and "that money doesn't grow on trees."

"We definitely didn't do this to earn awards," Doris noted. "We did it because it was a good way to raise kids. It's nice, afterward, to have it recognized that you did something right."

Peter Fidler family reunion update

Louis Verhagen

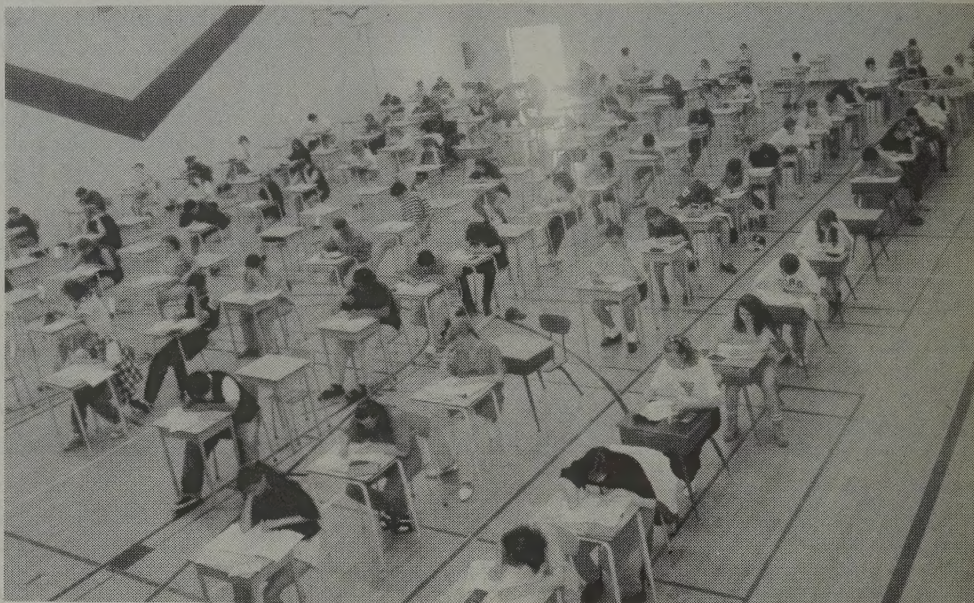

Reunion Organizer

On Saturday, July 2, around 11 p.m., Bruno Sanregret from Cold Lake came to the Reunion and presented Mary Fidler, from Bolsover, England, with the Alberta flag that his wife Malvina won in 1992 for being the "eldest Fidler" present at that reunion. That flag was originally presented by John Drobot, MLA. Bruno stressed the fact that the Alberta flag is now in the hands of "a good woman." He thanked Mary for all the kind correspondence she had had with Malvina, who passed away last April.

The great success was due to a number of events: the presence of Mary Fidler, Sergeant John Humphrey's attendance in dress uniform at the Statue, the very successful auction which whiled away 2 1/2 hours on Friday, the canoe voyage to the Interpretive Centre. Due to the computer, many could see where they fit in this large family, and the interest became very pronounced. Many individuals now want the computer program and the computer to go with it. They also saw what was missing and promised to go after their immediate families to send in their genealogy.

Mary thanks Pat Johnson, from the bottom of her heart, for the hike up the hill. She now feels superb and hasn't used her cane and pills since.

EXAM TIME AT FGM - This scene from one of the last days of school is a fading memory for F. G. Miller High School students who are now enjoying the lazy days of summer (or toiling at a summer job).

Tourist Information Clerk

For all those patiently waiting for B.C. travel information and maps, we are happy to tell you they have arrived. We again have a limited supply so if you need them, get them soon.

We had record crowds here at the TIC (Tourist Information Centre) over the Canada Day weekend, with people from California, North Dakota, Vermont, England, Quebec, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia.

The weekend may have been busy but it has been downhill ever since. We were so bored these past few days that we were reduced to reading some of our own literature. Some of this stuff isn't too bad.

The Parks publication has puzzles and games for children (although adults can do them too if they have help) and plenty of info on our local parks and recreation areas. Our own Lakeland newspaper (The Lakeland - What's In It For You?) has articles on the St. Paul Historical Museum / Musee Historique de St. Paul and on Elk Point's Pioneer Museum as well as travelling tips, wagon train info, golf course info and a review of the local "watering holes."

As well, we have camping and fishing information and rodeo and chuckwagon race schedules. So if you find yourself with 'nothing to do,' come down and get some suggestions.

Elk Point to Elk Point tourists return home

Elk Point, Alberta tourists Steve and Pete Andrishak must have made quite an impression on the Elk Point, South Dakota Leader - Courier during their visit to our namesake community last month: they made the front page.

Steve and Pete are shown on Main Street, Elk Point, SD, along with a story which gives the brothers' comments on their vacation journey across Montana, North Dakota and South Dakota, with stops at Mount Rushmore and the Pioneer Auto Museum in Murdo. They found the 90 degree Fahrenheit temperatures and the humidity a bit warmer than here at home, and that the sun sets there around 9 p.m., even on the longest day of the year.

The Andrishaks had taken along a package of information about our own Elk Point, which the Leader - Courier utilized to give a glowing picture of our community, and a rundown on the activities chronicled in the June 7 issue of the Elk Point Review. Steve's Pioneer Museum was also nicely featured in the story.

The two communities have many similarities, although the brothers profess a preference for the northern version of Elk Point. Both have similar populations, in the 1400 range, and both are just down the road from a larger community named Vermilion (although theirs is a 2-1 Vermillion, and much larger) which are both college towns.

So, what's happening in the "other" Elk Point these days? The June 23rd issue of their paper, which is now in the 124th year of publication and which follows an 8-column-to-a-broadsheet format, has the following stories to go along with the coverage of Andrishaks' visit:

Over 500 registered for the Elk Point All-Class Reunion, which would be something like we had last year... The County 4-H Horse Show was slated for Saturday... The Community Choir had scheduled a practice for July 3... A Five-Ring Circus was coming to Vermilion... While 5 to 7 inches of rain had fallen in southern Minnesota, weather in Elk Point remained hot, dry and humid with only 2.49 inches of rain that far in the month, compared to the 15-year average of 13.21 inches by June 20.

Ball season was underway, Black Hills deer and Muzzleloader deer seasons were announced, the library offered a number of World War II videos to patrons, the high school girls' soccer team scored a victory, and middle school (grades 4 through 8) honor rolls were announced. County and city council and school board minutes were reported at length. Service times for no less than 17 area churches were listed, as were the menus which Meals on Wheels would deliver in the coming week. A family reunion and a recent wedding shared space with a sizeable 'Social Calendar,' similar to our Community Newslines.

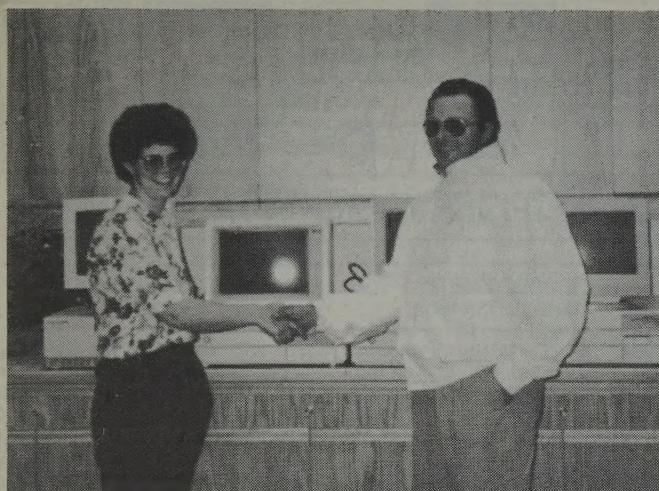

Advertisers urged area farmers to purchase hail insurance, invited friends and relatives to a 50th anniversary, listed farms for sale, announced an upcoming Friends of the Library Book Sale, a flea market and bake sale, a pancake breakfast and a Firemen's Picnic. Business and professional ads included those from a tree service, two chiropractic clinics, an insurance agent, and two air conditioning firms. Statewide classified ads, similar to our blanket classifieds, are available for $135 a week in 150 papers.

An earlier issue, brought back by the Andrishaks, had other stories that sounded not unlike our own: "Elk Point Elementary School Awards Program Held," and "Elk Point Junior High Honor Roll," along with photos of donations to the fire department, and a donation by the 4-H club.

Heinsburg School has received four surplus IBM computers from the federal government as part of the Computers for Schools Program.

Over 500 applications from Alberta were submitted and reviewed in December, 1993, with 87 schools receiving approval.

The Computers for Schools Program has representatives from the Canadian Association of Principals, the Alberta

Teachers' Association, the Alberta School Boards Association, Alberta Education and the Alberta Telephone Pioneers. This program is ongoing and additional computers will be distributed in future years.

The computers will be well utilized within Heinsburg School, likely in the Industrial Arts Lab with computer assisted drafting. The staff and students of Heinsburg School appreciate this opportunity and would like to thank the sponsors of this valuable program.

Elk Point raises Asthma funds

The Alberta Lung Association has just released the results of their 6th annual Asthma and Allergies Campaign, and report that the residents of Elk Point "backed the attack" by raising $272.50.

Irene McNeilly headed up the campaign in Elk Point with the help of local volunteers. "We're very pleased with the level of support we have received from communities," said local ALA representative Rhonda Newman. "The volunteers are the very backbone of the Asthma and Allergies Campaign. Without the hours donated by these individuals, this fundraising effort would not be possible."

The campaign raised $1,061,485 provincially, with the help of over 20,000 volunteers from across Alberta and the Northwest Territories. This represents an 11.4 percent increase in donations over last year.

Money raised from this campaign is used for asthma and allergy research, education materials and community programs in Alberta and NWT.

The first week of the Summer Reading Program has been completed and everyone had a great time. Hard to believe, the sun actually came out for the Friday session which included stories, songs, sponge and potato painting, and games outside. The Tuesday program featured Country Line Dancing and window painting. Everyone is encouraged to stop by the library to see the Reading Rodeo artwork.

Our thanks go to Daphne Schnurer and the Brooker family for donating cowboy gear for display in the library.
